As the official foot-care providers for the 2010 Under Armour Baltimore Marathon, the practice name, "WeTreatFeet," says it all. The group is skilled in treating sports-medicine injuries, broken bones, bunions, neuromas, and flat feet. They also provide high-quality ankle care, including repair and total ankle replacement. For the diabetic foot, the practice offers wound-care services, shoes and inserts, and surgical reconstruction.

WeTreatFeet provides exceptional and compassionate care for everything from the simplest nail problems to the most complex foot deformities. The office uses state-of-the-art techniques including computer-assisted gait analysis, digital x-ray, ultrasound, and vascular testing equipment.

Their podiatrists have spent years learning the intricate structures and functions of the human foot and ankle.

"No knees or elbows here," says Dr. Mike Daniels, who heads the group. "We provide the best foot and ankle care available in Maryland."

Dr. Daniels and his colleagues—Drs. Felton, Matthews, and Singer—emphasize preventive treatment, using surgical options to correct problems only when necessary, with a goal of eliminating problems and providing relief for the long term. "We focus on conservative options first," says Dr. Daniels.

Services are available for people of all ages, from infants to seniors. Their motto is, "No foot is too big, no problem is too big, because, remember, WeTreatFeet!"
